6. BUSINESS

6.1 Purchasing and Procurement Policy – First Reading
The most immediate need is to update the policy to match current requirements in the Revised Code of Washington. Public Works compliance is a time sensitive and essential process that takes the focus of several individuals within FVRL to ensure that our vendors are compliant with the law and that we are able to compensate them for their work in an appropriate manner.
Action Requested: This is a first reading of a draft policy. Staff is looking for direction from the Board on the revision of this policy toward a simplified format.

6.2 Non-represented staff and Executive Director Compensation: Resolution 2020-01
Administration requests that the Board supports a 2% pay increase for non-represented employees and the Board of Trustees to increase the Executive Director compensation in the amount of 2% effective January 1, 2020. Amendments to the resolution are noted in the motion below.

Lee Strehlow, HR Director, outlined the FYI program - a new talent assessment tool that will be put in place going forward for non-represented staff. It includes competencies and benchmarks designed to obtain “talented status” by year 5 with a focus on personal development. To achieve “talented” status, set goals must be met and demonstration of competencies achieved.

MOTION: Jane Higgins moved and Sandra Day seconded approval of Resolution 2020-01 authorizing the Executive Director to make pay adjustments as she deems appropriate for non-represented staff and that the effective date for the Executive Director compensation adjustment be revised to October 12, 2019. 8. BOARD COMMENTS
Chair Carrico introduced Mary Ann Duncan-Cole, Board member still to be seated who attended the meeting as a guest. Board Member, Jane Higgins, made this statement to the Drag Queen Story Hour (DQSH) speakers:

“As we are on the eve of the second year of our relationship, I would like to make a few brief observations. The Board has listened carefully to your presentations. We respect your right to object to the DQSH programming. FVRLibraries has made changes in response to your voices. Yet, we don’t hear recognition from you for the impact you have made.

First, DQSH was a recognition that we need to do more to welcome diversity and to show the library as a welcoming place for everyone. We have acknowledged that we could have handled the whole thing better. We have hired a consultant to help us develop a district-wide plan for diversity, equity and inclusion for populations such as the deaf, the blind, minority populations and other diverse groups. Perhaps you haven’t noticed this change that was announced a couple of meetings ago.

Second, members of your group keep saying that we would not allow Bible Story hours in our branches. For the record there have been three Bible Story hours at our Battle Ground branch since last summer. Surely your children or children you care about attended these so you have to know the truth. Why not acknowledge it publicly? When Battle Ground Council person Shauna Walters spoke at our Trustee meeting in Battle Ground in September, she said that she doubted we would allow Bible Story times in the library. How could she not know that a Bible Story hour had been presented in that very room a mere few weeks before? So please update your facts about FVRL.

Third, it has been reported for at least two months now that we are doing background checks on all speakers, presenters, and performers for all library sponsored programs. Right now our volunteer office is busy clearing all of the regular presenters and performers at our Summer Reading programs. Your voices are being heard.

So as we go forward, please read our minutes and policies so you know your facts about FVRL. Check the truthfulness of the things you are told by others.”

9. NEXT REGULAR MEETING
The next meeting is February 18, 2020 at FVRL Operations Center.

10. ADJOURNMENT
